Bill Fair “Undivided”

Music has always been a huge part of my life. I started writing my own songs a few years ago and that took it to an even more intimate level for me. To put words and a melody into what I'm feeling is cathartic, and it's a profound experience when I'm able to accurately "get out" what's going around and around in my head and heart. I like having tangible reminders of my life's journey, both the good times and the challenging ones. My hope is that these songs, especially my new song "Undivided," connect to you as well and that they are honoring to God, the Creator of all music and all things. Enjoy!
