Jimmy Dooley

In a world where our younger generation is influenced negatively by the music they listen to, there is a voice that is reaching out with a positive message, that voice is Jimmy Dooley. "Just be yourself & boldly walk the path of who you are because You're good enough"--That's just a taste of the inspirational guidance Jimmy delivers to his listeners through the music he writes.

Jimmy uses his magnetic personality and the music he writes to connect with people in a genuine and heartfelt way. For years, young people have opened up to him with their experiences battling suicide, eating disorders, bullying, etc. Their testimonials made him realize there is a huge need for youth to have a style of music that will encourage them and give them courage.

The drive behind Jimmy's music is to reach teens and young adults who feel like they are unloved, unwanted, or not good enough, that there is hope and they can find love and acceptance. He wants his music to be an outlet for young people. He wants them to have fun and dance to his music, but more importantly, be inspired by the message in his lyrics. Jimmy provides his listeners with a positive outlook on life and shows them that with a optimistic attitude, struggles can be overcome and battles can be won.

With a background of performing in diverse music environments, he knows the significance of a visually appealing, upbeat, live atmosphere. This is where his expertise in collaborating music that has an exciting, commercial sound and also provides lyrical content to inspire and encourage the young generation comes into play. The goal behind his live concert experience is for the audience to be visually drawn in, have a great time, and leave the concert with a sense of hope and encouragement. He strives to put on a live show that his audience will never forget and will continue to come back for more.

Jimmy has accomplished a lot in his musical career. He has had two #1 songs on different major charts, opened up for nationally known touring artists, written popular songs for many other artists, record labels and publishing companies, and has had a successful partnership with world relief organizations, like World Vision & Food For The Hungry, helping over to get over 2,500 child sponsorships to date.

Jimmy strives to reach people with his music that most may look at as unreachable. His vision is to do something that has never been done musically, as well as emotionally, in the lives of the people who attend live shows, by giving them an atmosphere that is rooted in fun but gives them a positive message. In the next 10-20 years, Jimmy sees himself standing on stages in front of people, reaching them with a message of hope, healing & restoration. He hopes to help change the lives of millions with the platform God has given him through music.
